

The Elsevier Foundation

Building capacity and equity in research and health, for an inclusive and sustainable future

With our partners worldwide, we accelerate early-stage interventions for systemic change in research and health equity

Creating an inclusive science landscape

Inclusive Research

The future of science requires a robust and diverse workforce drawn from all corners of society. Our partnerships support equity in research across gender, race & ethnicity, and the global South.

Inclusive Health

Our partnerships support organizations working to improve health outcomes in underserved communities around the world, advancing the delivery of health equity for vulnerable populations.
