OWSD-Elsevier Foundation Awards for Early Career Women Scientists in the Developing World

The more diverse the pool of scientists, the more robust the science.

For the past ten years, the Awards have recognized women-led science through a unique awards and recognition program for early-career women scientists from the global South. Since 2013, more than 60 researchers from over 35 countries have won the Awards.

This award acts as a strong reminder and challenge to me to never stop holding the ladder up for others.
